American tourists join golf tournament to benefit Ezer Mizion

For the second consecutive year, a group of American tourists and new immigrants held a charity golf tournament at the Caesarea Golf Club to raise funds for the Ezer Mizion health organization. Donations by the group will support Ezer Mizion's national bone-marrow donor registry. The group of friends first gathered at the initiative of Dr. Herman Weiss, a physician who immigrated to Israel from the United States and decided to raise funds by holding a golf tournament in Caesarea. The long Thanksgiving weekend, last weekend, gave members of the group the opportunity to take time off and hold the charity tournament. First place was won by Jeff Wilen, second place by Oliver Soskel, and third place went to Alan Cohl. (Haaretz Sport Staff)
